Years at Home of His Daughter. William Jarvis died at the venerable age of 93 years yesterday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Mary Ann Walsh, 673 Third street. His demise occurred very suddenly, presumably while in the act of getting up from his bed as some of his clothes were in his hands when discovered by his daughter. His death was a shock to his family as he had been in a hale condition for some time except a slight cold, which seemed to give him very little trouble.

Mr. Jarvis was born in Stockport,

England, and in his early manhood was baptized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints. About thirty-nine years ago he emigrated to America and settled at Altoona, Pennsylvania, where he has a son now living. He lived in Atloona until about six years ago, when he came on to Utah. While in Pennsylvania he be-came estranged from the Church and identified himself with the Episcopal church, serving that organization as a deacon. He lived in the home of Bishop Allan Sheldon of the Episcopal hurch, Soon after coming to Utah, however, he was rebabtized into the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, and remained a faithful member of that body up to the time of his death. He had a family of seven children only two of whom are now liv-ing. His daughter, Mrs. Walsh, who is 66 years of age, and his son, William, who is living at Altoona. He leaves twelve grandchildren and a score or more of great grandchildren. The old folks of this city and State knew him well for he was a conspicuous figure in their gatherings and for the last three years took the first prize at the Old Folks' excursions for being the claest one among them. ENGAGED TO BE MARRIED.

Intrusted Four Years' Earnings to His Girl-Garnishment Cases Heard Before Judge Cherry.

A novel suit has been filed in the Third district court by John Gottfried Lofgren against Gerda Elarth, a young woman whom he was at one time engaged to marry, and Emma E. Elarth, the latter's mother, to recover the sum $3,000, which, the complaint alleges, plaintiff was duped out of by the mother and daughter. Lofgren says that by the directors at a meeting yesterday | during Christmas, 1894, he became engaged to Miss Gerda, but not being well | gin taking it now, for it will keep you fixed financially he was advised by his girl and her mother to put off the wedding until he had sayed enough money to support a wife in comfort. Lofgren says he accepted the suggestion, and be ng a mechanic, earning $125 per mor he was able to set aside considera each month. He went, he says, to W oming to work, and sent all his saving to his prospective wife to take care of that by August, 1898, ? warded her in all $3,000. He frequent wrote her from Wyoming, and often urged her to name the day when sh would leave her happy home for him The young woman, Lofgren says, al ways had an excuse, and put him of and off until August 23, 1898, when sh broke off the engagement altogethe then asked for his money back, goes on to say that Gerda and her Schlatter, but did not see the incrend doctor lately heeling himself here, have gage, and with another $400 bought a
